

Animal Research Saves Lives

A dog's highly developed sense of smell can aid in detecting diseases such as cancer and diabetes

The olfactory sense of dogs is instrumental in detecting drugs and explosives

Utilizing the echolocation ability of bats to develop navigation aids for the blind

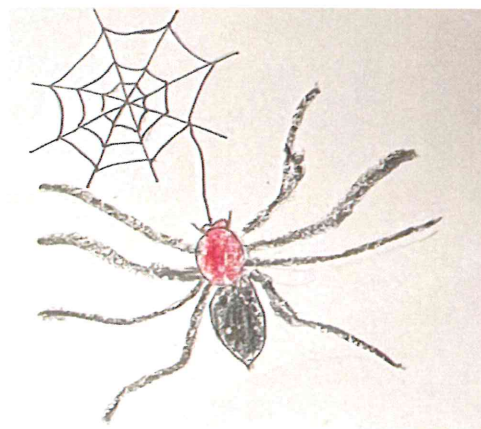

Shark skin has inspired the development of a new anti-bacterial material for medical devices

Amazing Senses

A new cancer imaging device has been inspired by the eyes of mantis shrimp

SPIDER silk is being used to develop bulletproof vests

Studying the sense of smell in fruit flies to gain insights into human brain function

